KING'S STORY DIDN'T HOLD

W. O. King When Cross-Examined by P. J. Nolan Was rather Confused

PROPOSAL OF MARRIAGE

Prosecution Produced Letter in Which Prisoner Asked Woman to Come to Canada

The cross-examination of King by Mr. Nolan, was proceeded with this morning in the King murder trial, and several times King directly contradicted himself. He absolutely denied having been in the States, or having moved money on Hindall's property or indeed having done anything that the evidence of the prosecution states that he has done. Mrs. Parkes, King said, had not told the truth, in fact he said that he would shortly show the jury that every word of her evidence was false. He has not done so yet, all he has done is to simply deny all her statements.

Mr. Nolan conducted his cross-examination in a very brisk, sharp manner, several times catching the witness in many corners, out of which he could only extricate himself by a contradiction.

Had Some Aliases

Mr. Robertson continued his examination of King with the question: "Were you in the habit of telling Mrs. King your business?" "She knows everything," "Did she ever leave you?" "No; this is the first time," "Who had certificate of your marriage in old country?" "I lost it in Regina," "When you were arrested the last time had you a moustache?" "Yes," "How long had you it?" "Since I escaped before," "Did you it in June, 1907?" "Yes, I had a moustache," Questioning King about Parkes, Mr. Robertson asked when he had seen him last. The answer was he went to the police station. "And you told the court yesterday afternoon why you went to the station?" "Yes,"

Mr. Nolan then began his cross-examination.

"You use the name of William Oscar King, what is your right name?" "That is my right name," "But you did not call yourself that in Germany, did you?" "No, I was known there," "And you changed your name in Canada?"

"Yes, when I took up the home-stay in 1905,"

"And you took no other name?" "No,"

"Then Mrs. Parkes is not telling the truth when she said you took the name of A. Smith?"

"No,"

"Then King directly contradicted himself by his next answer,"

"Did you ever go by the name of O. Smith?"

"A long pause. 'Yes, sir,'"

"You pleaded guilty in the Shilling case for defrauding Shilling of a team of horses and a wagon?"

"Yes,"

"Why did you plead guilty if you did not sign the name of Albert Smith at the bottom of the note, because the note is in the name of H. Smith?"

"Yes, I pleaded guilty,"

Serget. Nicholson says you signed the note—is he telling a lie?"

"I did not sign the note,"

"You pleaded guilty to the charge made by Garby?"

"Yes,"

"Well, here's a note signed by Herman Smith. Who signed that?"

"I think I did,"

"Have you any doubts about that?"

"I'm not sure whether I did or not,"

"Yet you pleaded guilty to the charge,"

Another charge was brought up where King had defrauded the Great West Saddlery Co. The note was in the name of Herman Smith and yet he pleaded guilty to the charge.

Another note to Westbrooke was signed by A. Smith and August Kel-

NO RANCOR IN ENGLAND

His Frankness Regarding the Egyptian Situation Taken in Good Spirit

London, June 10.—Theodore Roosevelt's visit to England ended this morning. It is true that his strictures on Egyptian affairs occasioned political resentment in some quarters, but he left no rancor behind because he was regarded as a privileged guest. The frankness of his utterances is taken on the strength of the friendship binding the two nations.

It appears that Mr. Roosevelt complained that he had not time to see a hundredth part of the country. He particularly wanted to walk through a typical English countryside. Accordingly, Sir Edward Grey, Foreign Secretary, gave him a friendly challenge to tramp through the New Forest, a picturesque and romantic spot near Southampton. Sir Edward is a keen angler and deeply interested in ornithology and the two took a long tramp through the woods yesterday.

DOZENS KILLED BY LIGHTNING

Terrible Thunderstorms Cause Havoc Throughout Central Germany

CROPS BADLY DAMAGED

Lightning Struck Children Working in the Field—Two Killed and Seven Injured

Cologne, June 10.—Thunderstorms of unprecedented violence in the past few days have resulted in many fatalities and enormous damage to crops in western and central Germany. It is reported that twenty persons have been killed by lightning in the Rhine Province alone. While a detachment of soldiers was drilling here today lightning struck among them and killed two and dangerously injured others.

Destructive cloudbursts were reported from various places in the Harz and Thuringian mountains and the intervening regions. During the past two days more than a dozen persons have been killed by lightning. At Langensheim, near Coslar, lightning struck a dozen children working in a beet field. Two were killed and seven injured.

BIG STRIKE IN PARIS

Paris, June 10.—Fifteen hundred conductors and mechanics employed by the Paris Northern Tramways, on strike here, have caused the entire suspension of service on thirty different lines. So far no disorders have been reported. The staff of the General Omnibus Company is preparing for a strike in sympathy with the striking tramway employees.

WAY CLEARED FOR BRIDGE

"Everything is Very Satisfactory to Us" Says F. W. Peters of the C. P. R.

INTERVIEW WITH SIFTON

Grant Promised by the Government Will Be Voted by—Order-in-Council

"Everything is very satisfactory to us," said Mr. F. W. Peters, assistant second vice-president of the C.P.R. to a Capital reporter this morning. "Funders for the substructure of the high level bridge will be called for next week and the work will be started just as soon as the contractors can get ready."

Mr. Peters, accompanied by a C.P.R. solicitor, Mr. A. S. Bond, arrived in the city this morning, and at ten o'clock a delegation composed of Mr. Peters, Mr. Bond, Mayors Lee and Duggan and Alderman Gariepy went down to the Government Buildings and interviewed the Premier.

Order-in-Council

Everyone appeared satisfied with the result of the conference. Premier Sifton asked the representatives of the C.P.R. that an order-in-council setting aside the $75,000 for the bridge would be passed this afternoon, and a copy of the order handed over to the interested parties tomorrow morning at ten o'clock.

Mr. Peters said that this would be ample assurance, and that his company did not consider it necessary for them to be paid one-third of the amount immediately. The money supplied by the provincial government will be paid to the company in three annual equal installments. Mayor Duggan said that the $35,000 promised by the city of Edmonton would be ready tomorrow morning. In regard to Edmonton's contribution, it was announced that a London firm had agreed to buy the bonds, and the cash will be on hand before the first of July. When Mr. Peters leaves tomorrow afternoon everything in connection with the deal will be finally settled.

C.P.R. Not Buying There

When asked if there was anything in the story that the C.P.R. were buying a large slice of the Hudson's Bay Reserve, Mr. Peters replied: "Nothing in it at all. We never thought of such a thing."

Mayor Lee and Alderman Gariepy took Mr. Peters out to St. Albert for lunch today morning in order to let him see the country around the city.

LOCOMOTIVE RAN INTO A FUNERAL

Protecting Oates Let Down After One Coach Was on the Track

FIVE PEOPLE KILLED

One of Those Killed Was Just Returning From Her Father's Funeral

Haverstraw, Crossing, N. Y., June 10.—Three mourners, their pastor and their driver sat in a funeral coach here yesterday afternoon and watched certain death come rushing down on them at 50 miles a hour. A heavy West Shore freight engine crashed into the coach, scattering its occupants along the right of way and came slowly to a halt 150 yards beyond the crossing.

All the occupants were killed. The dead are Rev. Mr. Romath, pastor of the New City M. E. Church; E. V. Seifried, New City; Mrs. E. V. Seifried, Wm. Beebe, Haverstraw; Mr. Perry Kessler.

The accident happened at the foot of the graveyard hill in full sight of the returning funeral procession, of which the wrecked coach was the first and of the terrified and helpless watchman.

The watchman was eating his lunch in the cabin when the electric bell warned him of the approaching train. Mechanically he pulled the lever that set crossing gates in motion. Some eyewitnesses say the arms of the gates blocked the coach after the head crossed the first of two tracks and held it prisoner on the rails in the path of the oncoming locomotive.

The driver lashed his horses in an attempt to clear the track, but with a resounding crash the engine struck the coach and the occupants were flung far and wide.

Mrs. and Mr. Seifried were found side by side 50 feet down the track. They were just returning from the burial of her father, whose death had left her a small fortune. The driver was the son of a wealthy ivory owner and Rev. Mr. Romath had officiated at the funeral.

MIXED FARMS GET A BOOST

Alberta Agriculturists Benefited by High Prices of Cattle, Hogs and Butter

MAKES FOR PROSPERITY

Farmers, Says Mr. Duncan Marshall, Are Less Dependent on Vagaries of Weather

"The high prices in cattle, hogs and butter are giving the greatest possible boost to mixed farming in this province," said Hon. Duncan Marshall, Minister of Agriculture, to a Capital reporter this morning. Mr. Marshall has just returned from a trip through the country as far as Olds, and he is very pleased with the way the farmers all through the province are going in for mixed farming.

"I don't think that there will be much cause for the cry that the cattle industry of the province is being killed by the elimination of the large ranches," said Mr. Marshall. "This spring there is a wonderful increase in the number of calves that the farmers are raising. Then also a great many of the farmers are going in for hog raising. Last year you could buy both cattle and young hogs for a very low price. This year it is almost impossible to buy them at all owing to the fact that the farmers are raising them themselves and so will not sell."

"Just at present with hogs selling at $5.50 per hundred weight, it is possible for farmers to feed their hogs on wheat selling at $1.50 and still make a good profit."

"And from present indications," continued Mr. Marshall, "I think that the present high prices will continue for quite while yet."

The interest that the farmers are displaying in mixed farming is the best possible thing that could happen," said Mr. Marshall in conclusion, "as it makes the farmer more independent. He does not have to depend on the weather for a good crop of wheat, and in this way the prosperity of the province is greatly increased."

WHO'LL BUILD THE A. & G. W. ?

Foley, Welsh, and Stewart. It Is Said, Will Build the Line

STEWART SAW PREMIER

E. A. James, General Manager of A. & G. W., Is in City Today, Too

E. A. James, general manager of the Alberta and Great Westways Railway, arrived in the city last night. Mr. J. W. Stewart, junior member of the large contracting firm of Foley, Welsh and Stewart, arrived in town on the same train, and this morning Mr. Stewart was down at the Government Buildings, and had a long talk with Premier Sifton.

What was decided at this conference?

Premier Sifton, when asked about it said that he had nothing to say. Mr. Stewart was equally reticent.

Mr. Stewart and Mr. James had a conference this morning, too, but what was decided then is also a secret.

Further, it is stated that Mr. James is to see the Premier this afternoon. All these meetings seem to point to one thing, and that is that the Alberta and Great Westways railroad will be built by the contracting firm of Foley, Welsh and Stewart. It is said, on good authority, too, that if this was done, the present government would be perfectly satisfied with the arrangement, and that the new contractors would immediately start to work on the grade and would attempt to have about 75 miles completed before the winter sets in. It is also stated that the cost of the road will be shifted about 25 miles to the east.

Manager James had a long interview with W. R. Clarke in Winnipeg, just before he came to Edmonton, and Mr. James is now acting for Mr. Clarke. The question of the road is now being in Minneapolis, and has no intention of coming to Edmonton. James stated that he believed that matters would be satisfactorily arranged in a few days so that the construction of the road would be proceeded with without any more delays.

IT'S MR. CUSHING'S MOVE

The Calgary Optimist last week undertook to give the details of the alleged Detroit transaction, in regard to which Mr. Bigger was questioning Mr. Cushing before the judicial commission when Mr. Bennett registered so forcible an objection. The charge made is a very serious one. If substantiated, it means that Mr. Cushing, while a Minister of the Crown, made serious abuse of his position for the sake of private gain. One would think that a man who was so free in his imputations of corrupt motives to other people, would not have allowed an hour to pass before he took means of vindicating his good name. It was surprising that either before the commission, or immediately after the sitting at which he was questioned, he did not set before the public the whole of the facts of the matter that Mr. Bennett struggled successfully against having printed. But now that a paper like the Optimist comes out and makes a direct charge, one would hardly expect the ex-minister to let it pass, yet here is part of an interview with him in the Calgary News:

"He was also asked what he was going to do regarding an article that appeared in the Optimist this week referring to a transaction of his with the Walkerville Steel Co.

"I never saw the article," he said, but on being told what was in it he replied, "Well, I will ignore it. It is only a story they have manufactured." Further than this Mr. Cushing would say nothing.

The contrast between Mr. Cushing's method and that of his former colleagues is most marked. Nobody made any direct charge against them in connection with the A. & G. W. contract. But because suspicion had been engendered by a lot of loose talk, they had a royal commission appointed to make complete investigation. Before doing this, they could have challenged their opponents to come out in the open and be specific in their accusations. But they were above all, anxious to vindicate their good names, and they have done so completely. Though the commission has sat through many weeks, not a scrap of evidence has been adduced to prove corruption of any kind. But a responsible journalist makes a definite charge against Mr. Cushing and he lofly replies: "Well, I will ignore it. It is only a story they have manufactured." But people are usually placed under arrest who manufacture such stories. Innocent people, who are unjustly accused have a severe legal remedy which is open to them to apply. Why does not Mr. Cushing take proceedings against the editor of the Optimist?

The Bulletin grows indignant over the suggestion that one of the northern insurgents should join Mr. Riley in testing public opinion. There was nothing unreasonable about it. If electors in a Calgary district endorse Mr. Riley, it will be spread throughout the length and breadth of the country that the public is with Mr. Cushing and his followers. Why shouldn't they give the public of this part of the province a similar chance to express their opinion? If Mr. Riley's action is justified, it is without question the duty of one of the northern members who think and have acted with him, to follow his example.

The Albertan says:

"The Capital is endeavoring to get Mr. Smith and Mr. Boyle out of the way because they led in the battle against the A. & G. W. proposition. They are offensive to the Edmonton Capital and the other A. & G. W. people. That is the reason why the Capital is desirous of getting rid of them."

So their resignation would mean that they would be gotten out of the way! The Capital didn't suggest the possibility of this. If they both have their constituents behind them to the extent that they claim, why should they fear following Mr. Riley's example? All that we wanted was to avoid having the test, which Mr. Riley is intent upon, being a one-sided affair.

Despite the fact that the press of all other parts of the province has pointed out the folly of diverting public funds towards a second university in Alberta, the Calgary papers continue to push its claims. The Herald says:

"The generous support by local men to the Calgary university and also to the Methodist college is a great contrast to the residents of Edmonton and Strathcona who are knocking the project of the people in southern Alberta. Up north the assistance they give the university is to sell the site for it and ask the people of the province to put up the money."

If the provincial university had been located at Calgary, we presume that a site would have been bought for it and also that it would have been supported out of the provincial funds. But the province's money having been expended on the institution, we cannot conceive that the people of Edmonton and Strathcona would get together and try to nullify the effect of that expenditure by setting up a rival in a territory, which has barely enough people to support one seat of higher learning.

The Albertan also makes an observation.

"The Edmonton newspapers," it says, "rejoice exceedingly about the premier's action respecting the grant to the big bridge. It was just what he should do. But the Edmonton newspapers believe that the premier should meet the people who suggested a small grant towards the Alberta university with all the quick-bring guns and ammunition that the province can produce."

We presume that the use of "Alberta university" in the above is a slip, though not altogether surprising, as Calgary is in the habit of considering itself the whole of Alberta. As to the premier's action, it happens that there is need for more than one bridge in the province, whereas everybody must recognize that the establishment of more than one university is absolute folly.

What Others Say

DEATH OF AN ALBERTA PATRIOT

(Calgary Albertan.)

One by one the pioneers of Alberta are passing away and in the death of Rev. Dr. Herdman, not only has the Presbyterian church, but the whole of Western Canada, lost another of its truly great men.

The work of the late Dr. Herdman and Dr. McKillop in southern Alberta and Dr. McQueen in northern Alberta will be as lasting as eternity. The first two "rest from their labors and their work" do follow them."

Rev. Dr. Herdman came to Calgary in 1885, when this city was a little village and when Presbyterianism was represented by a very weak congregation with no church, services being held in a small wooden building on Seventh avenue. With that firm faith in the future which characterized his whole life, he set to work and before two years had passed the congregation had a fine stone place of worship. From this small beginning Presbyterianism has since gone steadily ahead until the present, when it is represented by eight large congregations. Dr. Herdman's life and influence were not confined to his own denomination or his own people. He was the friend of all, and many a life has been made better and many a despondent one who was not of his own flock has been cheered and encouraged by his kindly words and broad sympathy. As a citizen, he was esteemed by every one with whom he came in contact, and his influence on the civic life of Calgary in its formative period was great and always on the side of truth and right.

As a pastor he was beloved by his congregation and honored by the ministers not only of his own denomination but of every other denomination for his sterling character and great ability. When called upon in 1903 to accept the position of superintendent of missions for Alberta and eastern British Columbia, he felt reluctant to leave his beloved Knox church, but he saw that it would open for him a wider field of usefulness. Everyone felt that no worthier selection could have been made to carry on the great work the foundations of which has been so nobly laid. Following the example of his predecessors, he travelled up and down the large district entrusted to his charge, encouraging lonely young missionaries, visiting the settlers in their homes on the prairie, the lumber and mining camps in the mountains; wherever he felt there was need of his services. Like the Master whom he served, he "went about doing good."

Dr. Herdman died at the comparatively early age of 54 years, a martyr to duty, but who will say that his life work was not accomplished?

THE UNIVERSITY QUESTION

(Medicine Hat Times)

Calgary has been making considerable noise lately in the clamor for a university in that city. Whether a university is needed at Calgary just now, or at any other place in the province outside the present provincial university at Strathcona, is something that has not been looked into very closely. But, be that as it may, Calgary has every right to a university, or as many as they please, for that matter, providing Calgary is content to build and maintain them at Calgary's own expense.

The demand for a government subsidy for the equipment and maintenance of a university at Calgary is the result of an extremely narrow outlook, and not in the best interests of higher education in the province.

Alberta as a province is not yet old enough or big enough to equip and maintain two first class universities. They are having their hands full with one. Were the subsidy split up the result would not be commendable either to Calgary or to the present provincial university at Strathcona. Let us have one government maintained institution that shall be a credit to the province both now and in the years to come. It is essential that the provincial institution be well founded at its beginning. Its location has been decided. Nothing can change it now. There is no use trying to alter it by a half measure. It is up to Calgary to bury the little petty grudge and show a little more provincial patriotism.

If the demand for a university in Calgary, however, is of such a crying nature, let Calgary stand the cost alone.

HON. C. R. MITCHELL AT MEDICINE HAT

Attorney General Was Given the Unanimous Nomination by Enthusiastic Convention

PERSUADED BY SIFTON

He Gave Up Seat on the Bench on Persuasion of the Premier

Medicine Hat, June 10.—The Liberal convention at Medicine Hat was most enthusiastic for Hon. C. R. Mitchell.

Mr. Mitchell, in acknowledging the nomination, stated that he was fully aware of the advantages which lay in his retaining his seat upon the bench, and was equally aware of the difficulties with which he would be surrounded in entering upon a political career. His duty was put before him so plainly, however, by Premier Sifton that he had resigned his judgeship and placed himself in the hands of his old friends in Medicine Hat.

He had reasons to believe that when the House met in September the premier would be able to command a following sufficient to enable him to carry on the administration without embarrassment, and not be forced to take steps in a direction which he would otherwise wish to avoid.

The government had only just adopted its telephone policy a year or so ago and the long distance line could not be expected to have reached Medicine Hat yet. However, he had the assurance that the crews working on it would be doubled this spring, and that construction would be undertaken from both the Medicine Hat and Lethbridge ends simultaneously.

In respect to the new cabinet, he pointed out that it was composed of but four members, as compared with the larger former cabinet. The effect would be that the cabinet would occupy a correspondingly stronger position than a member of the old cabinet. Medicine Hat had been unfortunate in having to lose representation in the cabinet, but the opportunity was now returned, and he hoped that the constituency would again occupy its former position in importance.

DELEGATES FROM EDMONTON MISSED

The Associated Boards of Trade
Comment on Absence of Edmonton Men

Brandon, Man., June 10.—An important step was taken at last night's session of the Associated Boards of Trade by the adoption of a special report having for its object the obtaining of better results from the following up of resolutions.

By a standing vote the members passed a resolution of regret at the death of King Edward and expressed their felicitations to George V. on his accession to the throne.

A resolution from Prince Albert on the subject of telegraph rates was withdrawn after it had been pointed out by C. N. Bell that the case which had been presented to the Railway Commission by the Winnipeg board practically covered the case.

The absence of delegates from Edmonton is causing some comment at this convention on account of the active part which the delegates from that city took in the proceedings of former years.

The choice of a place of meeting for 1911 is to be decided today and it is almost a certainty that Lethbridge will be selected. The business of the convention will be concluded about noon today and in the afternoon the delegates will be entertained by an automobile trip by Brandon citizens. A banquet in the evening will wind up the programme.

RUDOLPH FRANCKE IS SUING PEARY

Claims That Explorer Used Unfair Means to Get His Arctic Collection

Berlin, June 10.—Rudolph Francke, who was associated with Dr. Cook in Arctic exploration, has brought suit against Commander Peary in the sum of $10,000. This amount is estimated as half the value of the furs and walrus and narwhal teeth which Francke bought from natives in the Arctic regions upon arrangement with Dr. Cook that they should share them half and half. According to Francke's statement, Commander Peary found him seriously ill at Etah, owing to a fall on a glacier and took advantage of the circumstances to demand his Arctic collection as the price for transporting him to America. Francke claims that he did not act of his own free will, but by compulsion. He says that Peary set aside part of his collection to present to ex-president Roosevelt.

Berlin, June 10.—The German government has instructed its Roman representative to make representations to the Vatican in regard to the Borromeo encyclical, which has given so much offence to Germany.

HOW SEA CAPTAIN SAVED THE TRIBE

At Least Patagonian Indians Gave Him the Credit for the Deed

RECOVERED THEIR IDOL

Scientists Had Stolen It and the Poor Villagers Were Overcome With Fright

Seattle, June 9.—To be hailed as the savior of a tribe of Patagonian Indians, because he restored their idol, was the experience of Captain John von Helms, who arrived in charge of the big Kosmos liner Sialak, from Hamburg, via the Strait of Magellan.

Captain von Helms is an enthusiastic hunter, and in his ship made a three-day stop at Punta Arenas, late in March, the captain went on a sea lion hunt with three Patagonian Indians, as guides, one of them chief of the Kwamuk tribe of fishermen. The captain found these Indians in an abject state of poverty and general demoralization.

The chief explained to Captain von Helms that his people were much afraid of the great new star, naming Halley's comet. To make matters worse, some white men had visited them and had managed to run off with their idol. The tribe were sure that annihilation was in store for them. The men refused to set out in their boats, and the women had left their cooking fires go out.

From the Indian's description Captain von Helms recognized the white man as a party of anthropologists sent out by the world-famous university, to study the South American aborigines.

Finds the Fetish
He abandoned his sea-lion hunt and went back to Punta Arenas, where he found the party of scientists busily engaged in tabulating and packing their various idols. He explained to them the state of the Kwamuks and asked them to restore the idol. At first they denied having it in their possession. Then Captain von Helms faced them with an old Indian chief, who identified them as the thieves.

The scientists, fortified with letters to the Chilean government, which made them practically immune from arrest at the instigation of the Indians, refused absolutely to return the image. They explained that it was of great value, being, as far as had been ascertained, a work of the piltene, or pre-glacial period; that no idol of the pre-historic age had ever been discovered before, and that its scientific value should outweigh the superstitious fears of a few savages.

Had to Use Threats
This indifference to the misery of the Indians angered the captain, and he threatened to get his crew from the ship and ransack the boxes, which were packed for a foreign museum. Then the scientists gave in, and handed the image over to the irate captain.

When the Indians, who had been present during the controversy saw the image, they let out a whoop of joy and fell on their knees. Capt. von Helms said he was surprised to find the object of so much scientific ardor and superstitious worship, to be nothing more than a piece of black, roughly-chipped flint, in which one might imagine he saw two legs, an arm and a head. It was not two feet long. The Kwamuks bore off the sacred relic in high place, having been assured by the captain that the new star would work them to ill. They seemed, however, to place more confidence in their restored idol than in the captain's word.

The next day a deputation of Indians brought the captain fifteen seal skins and a finely carved ivory box.

PRISONER'S STORY IS CONTRADICTORY

ler, and King denied having anything to do with it.

"Were you not a witness in connection with this note in a civil case?" Yes.

"Did you claim protection of the court on that occasion?"

The question had to be repeated five or six times before King could understand, after which he said he did.

"But you did not sign the note?"

"No."

King was then shown the register of the Waldorf Hotel and asked if he wrote the name of A. Schmidt in it, which he said he did not.

"In December, 1896, you said you were married to Mrs. Parkes?"

"Yes."

"Who married you?"

"We were legally married."

"Who married you?"

"His name was Machleburg."

"In his office?"

"Yes."

King then stated that Mrs. Parkes is still his wife as there had been no divorce.

Proposal of Marriage.

"Do you know a woman named Christine Grifstein?"

"No, sir."

"Do you know of her?"

"Yes."

"You have written to her and sent her money?"

"Yes."

"To come out to this country with?"

"Yes, sir."

"What did you want her for?"

"For cookin' and things like that."

King was then shown a letter written by him in German to Madame Grifstein, signed W. O. King, and was asked to translate a portion of it. The letter turned out to be a proposal of marriage written in a flowery style.

Mr. Nolan then wanted to know when Mrs. Parkes ran away with Parkes.

Witness said it was in 1907.

"And you wanted Madame Grifstein to come out and be your wife?"

"I wanted her to live with me."

Turning to the subject of Hindahl, Mr. Nolan asked King when he came to live with him. King said about January, 1907.

"You said yesterday that on 7th March you let your place with Hindahl to go south. Why do you say the 7th? Why not the 8th?"

"I knew it was the 7th or 8th."

"Why did you go south?"

"I wanted to get a homestead."

"What happened to your other homestead?"

"I let it go in 1906."

"And the one in Onaway?"

"I let it go too."

"When?"

"In the summer of 1907."

"So when you set out with Hindahl you already had a homestead?"

"Yes."

King was then shown the cap in court and on being asked his opinion of it said that it was like the cap that Hindahl wore when they set out.

Mr. Nolan then questioned King as to what he did when he got to Ponoka. King said he kept in the office of the livery barn for two nights. He went from Strathcona to Ponoka by train after having seen Timova and Keller in Strathcona.

King when he returned to Strathcona saw Hindahl's outfit tied up outside a hotel with Keller in charge. Timova was not around, and he and Keller left for home with Hindahl's outfit.

Had Walked Home.

King then related all Mrs. Parkes' statement about his driving the team back to her house, as he said Keller had driven the team according to a previous arrangement, and he had got off a mile from the house and walked home. He also denied Mrs. Parkes' statement that he lit a fire and burnt some clothes when he came back. Keller, he said, made his living trading horses.

"Stolen horses?" asked Mr. Nolan.

"Well, I don't know."

"Kellar took away this team of horses you were keeping for him and had them sold in Edmonton?"

"Yes."

"And you did not get any of the money?"

"No."

"Now, Mr. Michael said he gave you $500 for them yourself."

"That is a pure lie."

"Then Mr. Michael is a liar?"

"Yes, he's a liar."

"Then Kellar got a letter, you say, from Hindahl telling him to sell all his outfit, take his expenses out of it and send him the balance?"

"Yes."

"And Kellar did that, I suppose?"

"I don't know."

"Now Parkes says you gave him this watch and chain."

"I never gave him a watch at all."

"Did you give him anything when you came back from the States?"

"I have never been to the States."

"Then Parkes and Mrs. Parkes and Miller are all liars?"

"Yes, they are all liars."

"Is that Hindahl's watch?" said Mr. Nolan, suddenly picking up the watch from the desk. The witness said he did not know.

King then proceeded to deny having been in the States, having given Parkes a watch, having borrowed money on Hindahl's property, or having signed any of the notes, though Sgt. Nicholson said that King admitted, before the magistrate, the signing of a promissory note in the name of A. Smith.

Mr. Nolan then tried to find out why he gave Borden away by saying that he had killed a man and showed the police where the body was. King said that Borden owed him $80 and would not pay.

"There is one more question that I omitted," said Mr. Nolan. "Mrs. Parkes said that you told her that you had mortgaged Hindahl's property for $300; is that true?"

"That is a lie, and I can convince the jury, before long, that Mrs. Parkes has told nothing but lies."

"Sgt. Nicholson has also stated that when he asked you if you knew Hindahl, you said you didn't know the man at all."

"Yes, I did."

"Why did you do that?"

"Kellar said to me that if anyone asked me anything about Hindahl, that I did not have to know anything about him."

"That is a lie, and I can convince the jury, before long, that Mrs. Parkes has told nothing but lies."

"Sgt. Nicholson has also stated that when he asked you if you knew Hindahl, you said you didn't know the man at all."

"Yes, I did."

"Why did you do that?"

REV. DR. HERDMAN HAS PASSED AWAY

Former Superintendent of Presbyterian Missions in This Province Is Dead

Calgary, June 9.—The news received yesterday of the death of Rev. Dr. Herdman, who for nearly twenty years was pastor of Knox Church, and later was superintendent of Presbyterian missions for Alberta, touched many hearts with sadness.

At a meeting of the session of Knox Church, held last night, a resolution of condolence was passed to Mrs. Herdman and family in their great bereavement. The session also decided to attend the funeral in a body and act as pall-bearers. A message of condolence was also received from the general assembly.

The funeral will take place at Banff on Friday afternoon at two o'clock. In the beautiful cemetery, amid the murmuring pines, in the place where he lived so much in life and in which he took such a great interest, all that was mortal of Rev. Dr. Herdman will be laid to rest until the resurrection morn.

The late Dr. Herdman was a native of Pictou county, N.S., a county that has produced a great many Presbyterian ministers. As a young man of twenty years of age he came to Alberta, which was his home up to the time of his death at the comparatively early age of 54 years. He was survived by a sorrowing widow and a family of two sons and one daughter, the sympathy for whom will be expressed from coast to coast, where Dr. Herdman was loved and esteemed.

MME. LABADIE TONIGHT

Mme. Labadie is to give a recital of the "Servant in the House," in the First Baptist Church tonight. Of her recital the Vancouver World says:

"The first of Mme. Labadie's dramatic recitals was given last evening; in the 'Pender hall before a large audience, which followed with unbroken interest the reader's vivid presentation of The Servant in the House. The very limitations of Mr. Kennedy's drama, as staged, its austerity of theme and structural simplicity modelled as it is upon later Greek drama, and strictly observing the unities of action, place and time, she is, rather than for treatment of this kind. Mme. Labadie's reading vitalized by a fine dramatic force, and instinct with a delicate sense for just and clearly defined characterization set forth most impressively and naturally the five acts of the play. Her soft, sweet voice, full, sonorous and flexible, enabling her to depict unmistakably the varying moods of each of the seven characters of the drama, readily passed from the childish tones of Mary to the deep rough tones of the 'drain-man.'"

MME. LABADIE

DAUGHTER FAILED IN HEROIC SEARCH

Miss Florence Roland Returns After Looking for her Father for Week

Port Arthur, June 10.—Miss Florence Roland, who went into the wilds of Matagorda district more than a week ago, on an heroic though almost hopeless effort to find her father, Capt. Walpole Roland, who has been missing three weeks, returned yesterday without having found any trace of him. Parties are still searching. Prof. Von Hille left yesterday and will organize another party on his arrival at Wabigoon. The Port Arthur city council has guaranteed all expenses.

DYING KING HAD SPIRITUAL ADVICE

Story That All Last Moments of Consciousness Were Given to Business a Canard

London, June 10.—The Morning Post said yesterday, "We have already expressed the falsity of party slander put about with some show of shame by certain Tory papers concerning the late King Edward's death in his alleged failure to take time for spiritual advice on his deathbed. The proverbial half hour's start, however, has carried the libel round the world. From Toronto it comes back to us with garish embellishments, for which the Queen Mother, Princess Victoria, the Kaiser and John Burns are impressed into rolls suitable for a Bow Bell novel's heroes and heroines, and scenes are invented in Buckingham Palace which probably would sound real in a log cabin of the west. We can scarcely blame those who publish this absurd but cruel canard. The whole blame belongs to those, who, under their own white flag and "Truce of God," not merely invented it but sent it forth in spite of their own knowledge. It must be false. We hope that they will feel a little shame when they see how it grows in such mediums as the Toronto Evening Telegram."

DANCE HALLS RECOMMENDED

Rochester, June 10.—Public dance halls for working girls to be conducted under proper supervision were advocated at last night's session of the playgrounds association of America by Mrs. Charles Henry Isaacs of New York city, chairman of the committee on amusement and vacation resources of working girls.

EXPRESS CRASHED THROUGH WALL

Three Were Killed and Twelve Injured—The Train Left the Rail

St. Louis, June 10.—Three men were killed on right and twelve injured yesterday when the Iron Mountain fast mail train for Texas left the track near this city, crashing through the brick wall of a manufacturing plant. The bodies of the engineer, W. B. Douglas, of Decatur, Mo., and Fireman R. D. Shepard, were not found until another fireman who had responded to an alarm, arrived to aid the survivors of the crew. The body of the mail clerk, Jasper Lassiter of St. Louis, was found in his car which had been crushed by the second car.

Another form of corruption found Mayor Gaynor Says Aliens Wanting to Be Naturalized Have to Bribe Officials

New York, June 10.—Mayor Gaynor has been hunting graft in another field. He says that he has found it and that it is flourishing openly in the federal building here. He has written to Attorney General Wickersham, saying that aliens are corrupted from aliens who desire to become naturalized.

These are the Greatest Values ever Offered by this or any other Store

We assert, without fearing contradiction, that the prices quoted here are the lowest in Edmonton on goods of like qualities and styles. Each item is selected because it describes merchandise that is in demand and because it will bring economy to every home. This style of advertising, backed as it is by worthy merchandise, has proved popular, and we continue it at the request of hundreds of patrons who have profited by the unprecedented values, and then again our forthcoming inventory requires a clearance of some of our very heavy stocks bought specially for and must be sold this season irrespective of original prices.

HOT AIR AND THE BIG FIGHT

The Enthusiasts of America Are Falling for a Fine Line of Bunk—Demand It

A fine lot of publicity getters have been turned loose on the public incident to the thrilling preliminaries to the Jeff-Johnson fight. Sorrowfully we read that Jeff's training camp resembles an Old Man's Home; that Jeff is sore and cross because he realizes that he cannot get into condition; that his trainers are quarrelling, etc. A sad, sad tale, sadly told, with the tear ducts opened and operating at full speed.

In sorrow we pick up another paper. Oh, joy! We learn that Jeffries takes to his work like a prima donna to a scrap with his manager. We have a column interview with "Tom Joseph Chynskoy, an ancient knight of the maules, in which the Hon. Joseph expresses his surprise at Jeff's splendid condition. "I am in good condition myself," we read the Hon. Joseph quoted, "but Jeff's work and his speed surprised me. He is indeed in grand shape." Next we hear from Billy Papke and then Sammie Bergey. Oh, la, la, la, as they slip you over in Paris.

Then we turn to the next column and we read where Jack Johnson, dusky disciple of Swaz, has announced in clear tones that there will be no fight on July 4th and that he has consulted concerning the referee. We read further and learn Johnson is fat. Billy Roche, who admits he knows something about fighters, casts his critical eye over Johnson, and discovers the negro is slow and fat, and is going back. The eye examination, by the way, was made at the depot at Los Angeles when the colored population of that city were welcoming Johnson. We also learn from score headings that Johnson will not be permitted to speed in his merry automobile because he might meet with an accident.

Bunk. That's what it is. In the back Bay districts of Boston, the residents may not know what bunk means but we folks know. It simply means that the philanthropists who are to stage this disagreement between the colored gent and the white gent are determined the public shall not forget the date of the encounter, and with the aid of manufactured news are keeping the papers of the country filled with a line of drivel which is disgusting to any true lover of boxing.

OFFICIAL BET HOLDER

San Francisco, June 9.—In order to protect betters who may lay wagers on the Jeff-Johnson fight, Tex. Rickard last night appointed Tom Corbett official betting commissioner. He asked Corbett to handle all the money that may be bet on the fight, and gave him the exclusive privilege of sending his assistants through the crowd at the ring on the day of the contest.

The first big bet that has been placed with a local commissioner was received by Corbett last night from Irving Weil of St. Joseph, Mo., who wired $5,000 on Johnson to win.

S.O.E. WON FROM 101ST.

The Sons of England won their league match from the 101st last evening by the score of 4-1. The game rather dragged at times, as both teams presented weakened line-ups. Baty and Raynor played well for the 101st, while Critchley, Jennings and Bell were prominent on the winners' line up. The line-up was:

101st (1)—Goal, Smith; back, Herrier and Bissett; halfbacks, Mucklow, Baty and Middleborough; forwards, G. Walker, Raynor, Hodgson, Peters, A. D. Walker.

S.O.E. (4)—Goal, Jesson; backs, Whitehead and Vardon; halfbacks, Coates, Bell and Wilson; forwards, Jennings, Moore, May, Holyroyd and Critchley.

NORTH ED. VS. CALEDONIAN "B."

The Calles "B" team will meet at the corner of McDougall and Jasper tonight at 6:15 sharp. The team will be picked from the following players: Orr, Roxborough, Bryce, Rademacher, Torrance, Hunter, Allan, Murdoch, Hope, Conlin, Sampson, Irvine, Gilmour and Bremner.

DOES ROOPIING HELP HOME TEAM

Hughy Jennings Says Nay, But We Think Differently in Edmonton

Does it really pay to have the home fans roo? Hughy Jennings was asked the question point blank the other day, and this is what he said: "It's a hard problem," said Hugh. "The old Orioles were away from home players. We would go out from Baltimore almost hopelessly out of the race, and come back in first place."

"That fact raises the old question, 'Does rooping help?' Hugh went on: 'Certainly no crowd ever routed harder for a home team than did that old bunch of fans at Baltimore for us. Certainly no team ever encountered fiercer opposition rooting than we did on the road. This fact makes me a little suspicious of the value the fans are inclined to put upon their ability to help the home team along by their so-called 'loyalty.'"

"I am inclined to think a baseball team fights the hardest when it has the most 'average' opposition, and both from the players on the other nine and from the people in the stands, if, indeed, the people in the stands have any influence, which many players doubt, unless it is perhaps a negative influence."

"Hugh Duffy takes much the same view. 'Bal players are the queerest folk in the world,' he said the other day. 'They are, usually, of high strung, nervous temperaments and the applause and cheers of the home fans upsets them. They are so anxious to show their appreciation of the applause that they make blunders they would not otherwise make. On foreign grounds this condition does not exist, and they play at their best.'"

TOMMY BURNS WAS POISONED

Was Seriously Ill for a Few Days But the Doc. Soon Brought Him Around

A Sydney, Australia, paper says: "Many people who saw Tommy Burns appearing with Larry Foley at the Stadium last Monday night remarked that he had not looked better since his arrival in Australia, and all agreed that in appearance he had improved a great deal since leaving Lang so unexpectedly a few weeks ago. Later in the evening, while in the tram, homebound bound to Bondi, Burns told some friends that he felt particularly well, but yesterday morning a great change occurred. He woke up very sick, and was so bad in a few minutes that he visited Dr. Maitland, who at once ordered him to lay up, and Burns is now at Carlbrook private hospital suffering from ptomaine poisoning, but Dr. Maitland is hopeful of seeing his patient all right again in a day or two. Between the time of his showing at the Stadium and going home Tommy Burns had some oysters for supper, and that fact Dr. Maitland thinks is responsible for the trouble."

MONTREAL TO PLAY WINNIPEG.

Montreal, June 9.—The Montreal Lacrosse Club decided to accept the offer of an exhibition match with the Winnipeg Shamrocks in Winnipeg on July 9th. The N.L.B. champions are now considering invitations from Lethbridge and Calgary.

INTERPROVINCIAL TOURNAMENT.

Winnipeg, June 9.—The Winnipeg Cricket Association has decided to hold an interprovincial cricket tournament from August 1 to 6 inclusive. Entries from eastern clubs will be appreciated and Saskatchewan clubs proposed to take part should get in communication with the secretaries of either the Edmonton or Calgary clubs. Further particulars can be obtained from the secretary, A. R. Morrison, Winnipeg.

ESKIMOS WON LAST NIGHT, GAME WAS LOOSELY PLAYED

Score 9 to 6—Moose Jaw Led at One Stage 5 to 1, But Locals Batted Like Fien's.

The opening game of the Moose Jaw-Edmonton series was one of the poorest exhibitions of baseball seen on the local diamond this season. Dell and Gilchrist were the opposing pitchers, and did nothing to merit a tablet in the hall of fame. The big fellow got away well by fanning the first three men to face him but was in trouble in every inning that followed. Still, he might have won the game himself, owing to the heavy backing of his team mates, but Deacon, taking no chances, derided him in the eighth, and sent Dretchko to the mound.

Triplet also got away in pretty good style but had a bad inning, and was retired by Fien of Smithson. Dell fanned 7 and issued 9 passes, which is well high a local record. He seems entirely at sea with his bases, and his slow delivery does not help his catcher any in catching base runners.

A Bad Mistake

Owing to Manager Davis handing the wrong batting order to the reporters, it is almost impossible to give a running account of the game. After a lot of hard work the base score was fixed up correctly.

The First Score

Two hits and a base on balls allowed the visitors to score once in the second. Edmonds, who was in the same innings, Lussi, first up, hit safely, and was sacrificed to second by Quigley. Spencer popped to Triplet, but Lussi stole third. Deacon, running for Johnson, who had coasted four wide ones, made a run down to second and Lussi stole home during the excitement.

Visitors Get Busy

The third, fourth and fifth were scoreless, but the first of this was horrible to watch. Jones was walked and Bell bunted safely, and Dell's wild throw advanced the runners a peg. Bliss hit to Morse and our usually reliable short-stop booted the ball, allowing Jones to score. Gilchrist popped to Quigley for the first out. Triplet was then walked and with all corners occupied, Dell hit Skeel, forcing in Bell. Crocker was safe on Baxter's error, while Bliss and Quigley, Hurley, were out. Jones, batting for the second time this innings, fied to Mills. Four runs.

A Little Sluget

Just as the silver-tongued rooster in the stand had remarked several times and times the Eskimos (with the score 5 to 1 against them) "batted Gilchrist" in the sixth.

Baxter was walked and Chesley drove one through short. Lussi doubled, scoring Morse. Quigley grounded to Triplet. Spencer, who had been pulled off a double which scored Cox and Lussi. Brannan hit safely to third and Deacon ran for him. Deak stole second and Dell, much to everybody's surprise, his safety over the second base man, and Spencer scored. Morse then hit to third, and Deacon made for the plate. Before the Rebin Hood could tag our agile manager, Dell was on third and Morse on second. Mills scored them both with a screaming double. Moose on his second trip to the plate grounded out Six runs.

Visitors Get Another

Morse Jaw go one in the eighth off Dretchko, who relieved Dell in this innings. Triplet fanned. Mcintosh, batting for Skeels, made a lovely triple and was easily caught at the plate when he tried to make a complete circuit of the bases. Crocker doubled and scored on Hurley's triple. The latter tried to steal home but Davis was asleep at the switch and popped the ball in the air. Spencer caught it with his eyes closed. One run.

Two More for One

Spencer led off the eighth with a three-bagger, scoring Johnson. Brannan drove to right which Davis couldn't quite get to. Drek. sacrificed Brennan to second. Morse fanned, while Mills got a life on Triplet's foot. Moose singled, scoring Brennan and was then forced at second on Cilesty's infield roller. Two runs. The visitors were blanked in the ninth, and the game ended 9 to 6 in favor of the Eskimos. Brennan, though limping slightly, made his appearance at third and did well. He batted in fine form, and had a worthy base runner in Deacon. The feature of the game was the heavy batting of the Eskimos. Bill Lussi, Spencer, Baxter, Cox and Brennan all had two or more hits to their credit and don't forget Dell's contribution.

Manager Davis has a quiet bunch of players, and they would do much better with a rehabilitated pitching staff. But his legs were very much in throwing on special occasions.

The attendance, 1100, was exceptionally good for the day following a double-header.

Deacon intended playing third last night, but had the thumb on his throwing hand badly split in the practice. But his legs were very much in throwing on special occasions.

MAROONS ARE TO BE STRENGTHENED

The Press of the Prairie City Demand Some Hitters—Should Have Been Done Long Ago

The Winnipeg papers are slowly getting wise to the fact that the Maroons are not, as at present constituted, strong enough to be, factors in the Western Canada League. It is a mean man that says, "I told you so" but we are unable to refrain from stating that just about two months ago we remarked: "Mrg. Lohr can not afford to stand pat on his last year's outfit." True, he has a couple of new faces in this line-up, such as Beers, Rossback, Isbell, etc., but what use are they?

A city the size of Winnipeg should be able to gather together a good ball team, and the Free Press, in no uncertain tone, demands that the Maroons be strengthened. The article reads:

"It is up to the Maroon management to get busy. They must look out for some fence breakers if Winnipeg is to have a pennant team. The Maroons are losing game after game being beaten by the other clubs, and off the ball once in a while. There is room for Harold Bond, for instance, but there evidently has not been anything done as yet towards endeavoring to land this hard hitting player."

HARDSHIPS ON THE FARM

Mayor Sheehan of Elmira was ridiculing the pretensions of a political opponent.

"He takes," said Mayor Sheehan, with a smile, "too much credit. He reminds me of the cayuse farmer. This farmer came home one night from a banquet, and, throwing himself down in a rocking chair before the stove, he sighed:

"I'm about tired out. Be the cows in the barn?"

"Yes, Adoniram," said his wife.

"Horses fed and bedded down?" asked the farmer, and he took from his pocket a cigar with a gilt band about it.

"Yes, Adoniram, long ago."

"Wood chopped for morning?"

"Yes."

"BASIE BALL," BY CHONG FAT

San Rafael, Cal., Has a Chinese Fan—Some of His Opinions About National Game

From Chong Fat, a Chinese base ball fan, who is now in San Rafael, Cal., comes comment that is meaty. "Basic ball," says Chong, "is like lottery. Some day you get wellie good, some day evilhoy go up in the air, jes' same firework. Mican girl in grandstand wellie put, but jes' same no good for smart game. Pitcher and teller behind bat, he look and see wellie nice girl laugh and wink, he forget catch ball. He look see girl he no look see ball. Some smart guy he catch ball one hand, he file girl look see. He think he make what you callum big hit. Next time he missum ball he no so smart. No girl in grandstand he more better game."

Chong also has about umpires. "Umpire, he all light some time, Jim Nealon, he big good. He no cheatum. Some umpire he can no see. He close eye, go asleep. Grandstunt yell, umpire, he walk quick, say 'Strike.' He no look see. He jes' guessum. Umpire jes' same Chinese kite. He full of wind."

AD NAUSEAM

(New York Sun)
"Jeffries sleeps where roses blow!" runs ten miles or so punches at the bag! "trainers chew the rag!" takes a fishing trip! "likes not Johnson's lip!" dodges a live wire! "chops and doesn't tire!" breaks out in a rash! "doesn't care for hash!" "able of referee!" "works with greatest ease!" says to watch his smoke! "illustrates a poke!" "says some other things!" "strains one of his wings!" "runs ten miles and back!" "swats his brother Jack!" "this and Jeffries fat!" "looking worn and old!" "young and spry and hold!" "looking wan and pale!" "looking brown and hale!" Jeffries! Jeffries! Wads of grief! Won't that fight be a relief?

Then He Hung Up.

The young man had talked for ten or fifteen minutes, without a break, when the girl at the other end of the wire interrupted.

"What is it, Field?" she said.

"I want to change the receiver to the other car. This one's tired."

JEFF DRAWS FIRST BLOOD

Sparted Three Fast Rounds With Bob Armstrong—Jeffries Was Farther Than Usual

Ben Lomond, Cal., June 10.—Three fast rounds, with Bob Armstrong, in which Jeffries drew blood from his colored sparring partner for the first time since training began at Ben Lomond, constituted the principal feature of a comparatively quiet day. Jeffries was faster than usual, and, countering heavily on the negro's weakness, made the blood flow freely. Jeffries and Corbett did not box but as the platform will be completed.

CLEAN-UP HITTERS ASSIST A TEAM

Athletics Have Collins and Baker, Lajoie and Turner Help Naps.—Cobb and Crawford

A powerful batting pair, that is two great clean-up hitters who follow each other in the line-up, often makes the success of the team.

For instance, the Collins-Baker combination of the Philadelphia Athletics' team is one of the most dramatic in the fast set. Pitchers fear the innings in which each of these two hitters has a chance at bat.

Collins and Baker drive home as many runs as any other pair on any country. For that matter, Davis and Murphy, who follow the two Mack stars, form a pretty tough duo themselves.

In Cobb and Crawford, Detroit has a mighty pair, and a pitcher is glad when he has rid himself of them. Pittsburgh has two powerful combinations in Leach and Clarke and Wagner and Miller.

Cleveland has Turner and Lajoie, but neither Boston, Washington nor St. Louis has any great swatters following each other in the line-up. The Highlanders' best at present are Chase and Lhuette. Chicago's best are probably Chance and Steinbrenner, while Hoblitzel and Mitchell are a rugged tandem for Cincinnati. Magee and Bransfield are the heaviest guns of the Phillies.

McDOUGALL WON ANOTHER.

The Capital learns on the best of authority that there is no truth in the recent report that P. Burns had bought a certain property in North Edmonton for the purposes of his proposed packing plant.

The death took place at Sorel, Quebec, recently of J. E. Beauchemin, a well-known engineer who some years ago spent a considerable period here superintending dredging operations in the river.

The Beaver House Chapter of the Daughters of the Empire will present a flag to the 19th Alberta Mounted Rifles tonight in the garden of Mrs. William Short's residence, corner of Eighth street and McKay avenue, invigil at Government House. The ceremony will take place at 8:30 o'clock.

An enjoyable banquet was held in the assembly hall of the Builders' Exchange on Wednesday night under the auspices of the General Contractors' Association. Mr. G. W. Boughton acted as chairman and toastmaster. A splendid musical programme was given while toasts were drunk to the King and the various associations which are affiliated with the Builders' Exchange.

Col. J. E. Caven, at one time Manager of the Kansas City Times, and more recently of the Denver Evening Times, is in Edmonton as the press representative of the Eckhardt Theatrical Company, which goes to the Empire Theatre for an engagement of three nights commencing Thursday night, June 16th. The colonel is one of the old guards in journalism and talks entertainingly of men and times of the past.

PAVING CONTRACTS READY

Commissioner Bouillon announced this morning that the contracts for the new pavements were now all ready, and were only awaiting the signatures of the representatives of the two paving companies. The representatives have been notified, and it is expected that the contracts will be signed before tomorrow night. Mr. Bouillon stated that it was expected that both companies would commence work immediately, and would continue to work diligently until the work was completed.

At this afternoon's meeting of the Board of Commissioners Commissioner Bouillon will recommend that the block paving in between the rails of the car tracks be torn up and concrete paving be laid instead, more especially on the tracks on the business streets of the city.

CARBON SEEKING G.T.P. SPUR LINE

Deputation Which Waited Upon Premier Sifton Today Got a Favorable Answer

A delegation from the town of Carbon, headed by J. E. Stashev, M.P., interviewed the Premier this morning in regard to the running of a spur line from the Calgary branch of the C.T.P. into the town. This matter was brought before the late government, but was not taken up until the change in the administration it would be advisable to bring the question up again.

Carbon is about sixty miles out of Calgary, and about eight miles off the line of the C.T.P. There are large coal fields around the town and those interested want a spur line run there. At present surveys are looking over the country that would be supplied by the spur, and if they report that enough business can be developed to make the spur pay, Premier Sifton promised the delegation that the matter would be taken up with the railway, and in all probability the government would guarantee the bonds for the spur line.

PRESENTATION TO MR. SUTHERLAND

Staff of Johnstone-Walkers Stores Banquet Him in Honor of Approaching Marriage

The staff of the Johnstone-Walkers store gave a most enjoyable dinner at Lewis' Cafe last evening in honor of Mr. Cecil Sutherland, a partner in the firm, and Miss Edna Grindley, his fiancée. A feature of the evening was the presentation of a handsome oak chest of silver, with each piece appropriately monogrammed. Speeches were made by the heads of the various departments, Messrs. H. A. Harwood, E. E. Davies, H. P. Orr, H. V. Burnet, P. L. Small and Miss E. E. Wright.

Mr. Sutherland thanked his employees for their generosity and expression of kindly feeling and referred to the amiable relations which existed between the firm and its employees.

As an evidence of the growth of the firm it might be said that the last time a similar function took place there were but three present, comprising the staff, and that was on the occasion of the marriage of Mr. Harwood. This time the staff of thirty were present.

Mr. Sutherland and Miss Grindley will be married on Wednesday next by the Ven. Archdeacon Gray of All Saints' Church.

Rev. H. E. Gordon left this morning for Weiskirchen, where he will appear as witness in the law court. He returns this evening.

Rev. A. Burgoyne of Calgary is in the city staying with Dr. E. Greene. Mr. Burgoyne leaves the city today for his home.

The court of revision meets on Tuesday, June 14th, for the sake of settling any disputes on the assessment of property. Few complaints have been received.

Mrs. J. Hasley, a sister of Mrs. W. C. Tuttle, arrived yesterday from Clear Lake, Iowa, and will spend most of the summer here with Mr. and Mrs. Tuttle.

The park committee is to be commended on the prompt action they are taking with regard to the Riverside Park. A large sum of money is being spent in improving this ground this season. A large gang of workmen are at work now putting through a good road. Besides this, seats are being constructed in many picturesque places. The park is one of the greatest assets the city contains. It is cool on the hottest days, and affords excellent facilities for picnickers.

HERE IS A CHANCE TO HELP THE BOYS

Archdeacon Gray Issues an Appeal for Funds for the Cadets' Camp

Editor Capital—Dear Sir: For the information of our friends I enclose a copy of the report of the inspecting officer after our annual inspection. On July 4th the company will prepare to go into camp, the number being about 60, together with some other lads who desire to go with us. This year we have raised the camp fee from $3 to $4. The total cost of the camp will be something about 60 cents per head per day or $6 for the whole time. This means that we must raise the balance by some other means. The boys' entertainment secured a neat sum for this purpose. As we do not refuse any boy who is not able to find the fee, we are liable to have deficits. May I ask all those who are interested in this company of boys to extend to us your generous help. Remember $6 will send a boy to camp for ten days, and $2 will pay the balance of some other lad who is saving up what he can. We expect to have 60 boys besides the instructors.

Yours obediently,
(Signed) H. ALLEN GRAY.
The report is as follows:

"Sir—I have great pleasure in conveying to you my utmost satisfaction at the excellent appearance and marked proficiency in exercises performed at inspection by the Boys' Brigade Cadet Co. No. 205. Great credit is due to Messrs. Livings, Moffhouse, Bergis, Shewell and Hodson and Dugger. Belcher for their capacity and energy in imparting instruction. Your success in organizing a bugle band, signalling section, and section of scouts is most encouraging. The officers and non-commissioned officers showed the utmost readiness and skill in handling the company and their respective squads and the bearing and conduct of all ranks was admirable."

ANDREW LAIDLAW HERE

Mr. Andrew Laidlaw of Spokane, Wash., who is interested in the Jasper Park collieries, is in the city. Mr. Laidlaw states that the company which is exploiting the new coal fields has had twenty-five men at work during the past two months developing six large seams. The company will not be able to commence shipping until the railway lines are constructed in the autumn. It is expected that the mines will have a capacity of 2000 to 3000 tons per day.

Mr. Laidlaw is very much interested in horses and will be a judge at the light class at the Calgary Exhibition.
